

Recognizing NACCHO Volunteers: Their Contributions Make a Difference

April is NACCHO's volunteer-recognition month. On behalf of NACCHO's board of directors, officers, and staff, we thank the volunteers who donate time, energy, and expertise to help fulfill NACCHO's mission in many different ways: through responses to requests for information, service on committees and advisory groups, and appointed and elected positions.

In 2012–2013, NACCHO's 40 advisory groups were made up of 381 staff from local health departments throughout the United States. Volunteers guide NACCHO's projects and priorities. They work with NACCHO toward a vision of health equity, and well-being for people in all their communities.

We are grateful for the enthusiasm and dedication volunteers bring to NACCHO. Their important contributions make a difference to NACCHO, local health departments, and the nation's health. Listed below are NACCHO's advisory group volunteers; for more information, visit www.naccho.org/about/committees. Finally, we thank John Wiesman for his years of service to NACCHO as an officer, board member, and workgroup member.

Sincerely,

Robert Pestronk, Executive Director
